

Weekly Creative Home Learning

Year Group: 2

Week beginning: Monday 13th April 2020

Every Thursday you will see a new chart of some activities that you can do to keep yourself busy and keep your brain active! Please remember to balance your online home learning with activities that promote your well-being too! Just like you would at school, make sure you take breaks every so often.

Dear Year 2,

We hope you are all happy and healthy, and keeping yourselves occupied whilst being at home.

We are so impressed with everyone who has been accessing the set tasks online and completing the 'Weekly Creative Home Learning'. Please continue to complete the set tasks online, as the teachers are checking your learning regularly throughout the week. If you have not accessed any of the programs online, now is the time. Some of the programs online are to use at your leisure and others have been set for work. Check back to the grid weekly, to find out which programs have set work assigned. It is very important that you keep completing the set work, so that you are familiar with these topics when school restarts.

The grid below outlines a wide range of learning activities, for you to complete over the week. These tasks are not to be completed all on one day or to be rushed through. We want you to take pride in your work and complete these activities to the best of your ability. Don't forget to send pictures of your lego models, science experiments or other fantastic work to apsallstars@alexandra.hounslow.sch.uk, so that we can upload it onto the school website. Take a look at some amazing learning that has already been sent in, by going to the school website and clicking on 'Gallery' and then 'APS All Stars'.

It is very important that if you are having issues logging in or are not sure about any of the set tasks, please contact the school at office@alexandra.hounslow.sch.uk.

Well done, on the super learning you have been completing already! We miss you and look forward to seeing you again, sometime soon.

From Mr. Cheatham, Miss Whyte,
Miss Buckley, Mrs Mansouri, Mr Horgan
and Mrs Patan.

Roald Dahl Fact File

Roald Dahl was born in Wales to Norwegian parents. He had an older sister called Asti who sadly died when she was 7 years old. Roald's father was so upset, he fell ill with pneumonia and died a few weeks after Asti. Roald's mother was pregnant, and gave birth to Roald's younger sister, Asta.

Roald did not like school, and after getting into trouble in his Welsh primary school, his mother sent him to boarding school - first in Weston-Super-Mare and then Repton Public School in Derbyshire. He was very homesick at first, but then began to enjoy the experience. Whilst at the Repton School, Roald and his friends were often asked to be chocolate testers for a large company, and this later gave him the inspiration to write Charlie and the Chocolate Factory.

After school, Roald wanted to travel and have adventures, so he worked for the Shell oil company. He was sent to Africa to work, but after a year, the Second World War broke out and Roald signed up to join the Royal Air Force. He became a pilot.

Dahl flew a Tiger Moth plane in Nairobi and then was posted to Libya, where he flew a Gloster Gladiator. In the September of 1940, his plane crashed in the Western Desert. He suffered terrible injuries to his head and back, so had to be flown to a hospital in Egypt. It took him 6 months to recover. He eventually returned to the RAF, but after a while, he began having violent headaches. As a result, he returned to England to live with his mother and sister.

He began writing in an old cottage, where he wrote his first novel 'Some Time Never: A Fable for Supermen' - a book for adults. It was not a cheerful book and writing it exhausted Roald so much that he had to go back to hospital.

In 1951, he met the actress Patricia Neal and they were soon married. They lived in Great Missenden in Buckinghamshire. They had five children: Olivia, Tessa, Theo, Ophelia and Lucy. Sadly, Olivia died when she was 7 years old.

Roald told his children stories at bedtime, and decided to start writing them down for all children to enjoy. During the 1980s, Dahl had 11 children's books published and The BFG was turned into an animated film.

During his lifetime, Roald Dahl wrote 20 books for children and had 48 books published altogether. He has had 6 books turned into films, and both Matilda and Charlie and the Chocolate Factory are now theatre shows.

He died on 23rd November 1990, aged 74, from a disease of the blood. He is buried in Great Missenden, Buckinghamshire. A short distance away, there is now a Roald Dahl Museum. 2016 sees the 100 year celebration of Roald Dahl's life.
